DOWNERS GROVE, IL – The Illinois Tollway Board of Directors today invited the public to review and comment on the agency's 2013 Tentative Budget by attending public meetings, emailing comments or viewing an online presentation. The proposed spending plan currently under review by the Board of Directors covers annual maintenance and operations on the 286-mile system, as well as $922 million in capital projects, including the second year of the agency's 15-year, $12 billion capital program, Move Illinois: The Illinois Tollway Driving the Future.

"This budget doubles the Tollway's capital spending over 2012, prioritizes improvements to our roadways and customer service, identifies new efficiencies and keeps our growth in baseline operating costs to just 4 percent," said Illinois Tollway Executive Director Kristi Lafleur. "We look forward to hearing what our customers have to say about our 2013 spending plan."

The proposed 2013 Tentative Budget outlines $770.9 million in funding for Move Illinois projects, including the start of the Jane Addams Memorial Tollway (I-90) Rebuilding and Widening Project, completion of the new interchange at Illinois Route 47 on I-90, continued construction of the new interchange at the Tri-State Tollway (I-294) and I-57 and the start of the Elgin O'Hare Western Access Project. Also in 2013, capital projects will include pavement resurfacing and lighting improvements on the Veterans Memorial Tollway (I-355), as well as other systemwide roadway and bridge repairs.

Revenues are projected to increase $13 million, from $973 million budgeted for 2012 to $986 million budgeted for 2013. Of the $986 million in estimated revenues, $977 million is from tolls and evasion recovery, $1 million is from investment income and $8 million is from concessions and miscellaneous revenue. The Tollway also plans to issue as much as $1 billion in new bonds in 2013 to provide funding for new and future capital investments.

These revenues will allow the Tollway to allocate $283 million for maintenance and operations, an increase of $15.9 million over 2012. Upon adjusting for accounting reclassification of costs previously funded in the capital budget, baseline operating costs will increase 4 percent, consistent with the long-term financing plan outlined for the Move Illinois Program.

The Tollway has continued to make extensive efforts to continue to identify efficiencies in order to present a balanced 2013 Tentative Budget. The proposed spending plan includes budget efficiencies that will save the Tollway more than $5 million in 2013, including: $2.3 million in annual savings on new transponders through a new contract; $1 million in annual revenue recovery from the installation of new camera washing technology that produces a higher volume of license plates reads during winter months; $1 million in savings from lower credit card fees and $800,000 in savings on utility costs as a result of the Tollway's energy efficient upgrades.
